- Chicago Tribune/Courier News - Car meet at Elgin High School held Friday night for Elgin teen killed en route to Chicago concert

By: Gloria Casas

Date: October 26, 2024

Tommy Kendall stands next to his brother Jess' prized possession, a 1975 Chevy C10, which was on display Friday night at a car meet held in Jess' memory of at Elgin High School. Jess Kendall died Oct. 21 after being shot in Chicago as he was headed to a concert at the United Center.

Jess Kendall's classic 1975 Chevy C10 pickup truck was center stage at a car meet held in his memory Friday night at Elgin High School.

It's the kind of thing he would've loved going to, said Tommy Kendall, his older brother.

Jess Kendall, 18, was shot Oct. 20 while walking to a Lil Durk concert at the United Center in Chicago and died the next day at Chicago's Stroger Hospital. Two other teens were wounded in an incident for which Chicago police have not disclosed details.

Jess Kendall, an 18-year-old Elgin High School senior seen here in a family photo, died Oct. 21 after being shot Sunday night while walking to a concert at the United Center in Chicago.

His death reverberated in his hometown and at Elgin High School, where he was a senior.

Tommy Kendall said his brother's friends organized the car meet.

"My little brother was really into cars. He just loved working on cars and hanging out with his friends, going to car meets, car shows and stuff like that," said Kendall, who was surrounded by family and friends.

"His 1975 Chevy C10 was his pride and joy," Kendall said. "He was just a gearhead."

When Jess Kendall got the truck, it needed a little bit of work, his brother said. It was something he worked on with his family and during his autoshop class at school, he said. He also had a Nissan 350Z and an Audi.

"This is what he loved," said Byron Mejia, one of Kendall's friends. When Jess drove his Nissan 350Z, "you could hear a block away," Mejia said.

Kendall was someone who was always willing to help a friend, he said. "He was always upbeat and always there for us," he said.

Nestor Rosales was another friend who came out Friday night to the car meet.

“He treated everyone with respect and treated you like a brother,” Rosales said.

Strangers, too, were touched by Jess Kendall’s tragic death. Mario Grimaldo learned about the event through friends, who saw a social media post about it. He read about the shooting in the media, he said.

As a father of three, Grimaldo said losing a child would be devastating. He wanted to come out and pay his respects to Jess Kendall’s family and friends, he said.

“Jess would be thrilled to see something like this,” Tommy Kendall said. “He took great pride in his car and would love to change out with friends.”

Tommy Kendall said no funeral services have yet been arranged. Chicago police have not given the family an update on the investigation or if any information on whether they have any information on a suspect, he said.

His family is struggling with the loss, he said. Jess is survived by his parents, Doris and Gary Kendall, and two brothers.

“He truly was the light in my life, as are his brothers,” Doris said this past week, noting how much her son accomplished with his landscaping business and automotive work in his short life.

“Everybody is grieving. Everybody is not doing great,” Tommy Kendall said. But the support from family, friends and the community “makes it easier,” he said.

St. Charles students tour plastics factory for Manufacturing Month
By: David Petesch
Date: October 25, 2024

Mike Polansky, left, tooling designer at Tek Pak, Inc. in Batavia, talks to students from St. Charles Unit SDistrict 303's Compass Academy last Wednesday as part of Manufacturing Month.

As part of Manufacturing Month, students from several Kane County school districts toured local businesses and factories last week to learn about their manufacturing processes.

More than 500 students from Districts 300, 301, 303 and U-46 toured 21 different businesses throughout the day. The event was coordinated by the St. Charles Chamber of Commerce's Industrial Committee, the Northern Kane County Regional Vocation System 110, the Alignment Collaborative for Education and the Greater Chicago Advanced Manufacturing Partnership.

Students from St. Charles Unit District 303's Compass Academy toured Tek Pak Inc. at 1336 Paramount Parkway in Batavia.

Tek Pak tooling designer Mike Polansky and vice president of research and development Scott Carter led the tour, explaining to students how the company's thermoforming processes are used to create plastic products for the electronics, health care, food and automotive industries.

Mike Polansky, center, tooling designer at Tek Pak, inc. in Batavia, talks with students from St. Charles Unit District 303's Compass Academy Wednesday as part of Manufacturing Month.

Students were able to see the process by which several Tek Pak products are produced, including packaging for medical supplies, car parts, and several familiar food items like McDonald's breakfast tray lids, charcuterie board trays and recognizable packaging for popular snacks found in grocery stores.

Polansky gave a demonstration on how 3D modeling and CNC machining designs the molds used in their manufacturing process, which sparked a lot of interest and questions from Compass students taking engineering and design courses.

CNC machining, or Computer Numerical Control machining, is a manufacturing process that uses a computer to control machines and tools to shape a part or object. Compass students in engineering and design courses have access to their own modeling system, 3D printer and CNC machines, and can become fully licensed CNC operators by graduation.

Compass Academy counselor Brenna Ohlson said the tours are very valuable for her students who are into technical design and engineering, and even those studying other programs learn a lot about how the engineering process works.

“To see this real world application of what they’re learning in school is priceless,” Ohlson said.

Compass Academy junior Jocelyn Gordon, who wants to be a private chef, was intrigued to see the process of how plastic parts are made and the materials that are used even though most of her courses are culinary-focused.

She said the most interesting part of the tour was seeing how many different types of products are made in one place and the scale at which they’re produced and shipped around the world.

“I’m very interested in learning about all sorts of different things, just to have that knowledge,” Gordon said.

Mike Polansky, center, right, tooling designer at Tek Pak, Inc. in Batavia, talks with students from St. Charles Unit District 303’s Compass Academy Wednesday as part of Manufacturing Month. Polansky was joined by Tek Pak Vice President of Innovation and Sustainability Scott Carter, far right, and Rich Novicki, tooling Supervisor.

Compass Academy sophomore Asher Needham had never considered a career in manufacturing, but after learning so many interesting things on the tour is considering taking engineering and design courses next semester.

Needham said the most interesting part of the tour was seeing how intricate and precise the designs and tools required for the process were, as well as how big the industrial-sized machines in the factory were compared to the 3D printer at school.

Industrial Committee member and work-based learning specialist for Northern Kane County Region 110 Todd Stirn was among the event's organizers.

"What a great way for us to celebrate Manufacturing Month," Stirn said. "We have so much manufacturing across the Kane County region and great companies producing products that we use every day. It's phenomenal."

Stirn said he hopes the tours will help students gain knowledge and insight into various career pathways that can lead to great jobs for their future.

"It's a great career path for our students, and sadly, many students don't even know it exists," Stirn said. "Opportunities like this to get students out and seeing what's going on in modern manufacturing is a terrific career exploration event."

Jackson Carey follows through on vision and scores goal that helps Hampshire stymie Streamwood. 'I just knew.'

By: Paul Johnson

Date: October 26, 2024

Hampshire's Jackson Carey (7), Charlie Terriquez (10) and Grayson Hedderich (6) show off the plaque after beating Streamwood in the Class 3A Hampshire Regional final on Saturday, Oct. 26, 2024.

Senior defender Jackson Carey actually had a crystal-clear vision that he would be in position to make the big play Saturday afternoon for Hampshire against Streamwood.

In talking with senior forward Charlie Terriquez, his close teammate, they spoke it into existence.

“Right before the game, we were in the trainer’s room,” Carey said. “He was like, ‘I’m going to play you the ball because I know they’re going to be on me.’ I knew that moment was going to come.

“I just knew I had to grasp it.”

It played out exactly as envisioned with 33:20 left in the second half as Terriquez crossed a ball to Carey, who buried the lone goal for a 1-0 victory in the Class 3A Hampshire Regional final. Senior goalkeeper Parker Smith stopped a penalty kick by AJ Sabanovic with 19:04 remaining to preserve the win for the Whip-Purs (11-11-2), who won their first regional title since 2017.

Sabanovic had another shot in the final minutes that hit the post for Streamwood (11-7-2).

Hampshire plays at 6 p.m. Wednesday in the Streamwood Sectional semifinals against Huntley, a 3-2 overtime winner over South Elgin. Elgin and Rockford East face off in the other semifinal.

Hampshire's Jackson Carey (7) reacts to a save by goalkeeper Parker Smith against Streamwood during the Class 3A Hampshire Regional championship game on Saturday, Oct, 26, 2024.

Carey waited for his chance Saturday, and when he got it, he did not let it pass him by.

"It was my moment and I just finished it," Carey said. "I knew it was going to happen. It was just a matter of time. That goal was very emotional. I'm not going to lie.

"When I scored, I was actually about to cry. I was just so happy."

Hampshire coach Chayanne Martinez has seen Carey come through in big moments all season, so the fact he was in the right spot to deliver again did not surprise him.

"He's had a heck of a season the whole time," Martinez said. "It's been great to have him as a leader. His commitment this entire season, the entire offseason, it's just been there all the time.

"It's very contagious. Every single one of us has been focused, and we'll keep being focused."

Hampshire goalkeeper Parker Smith (1) makes a save against Streamwood in the second half of the Class 3A Hampshire Regional championship game on Saturday, Oct, 26, 2024.

Carey acknowledged the Whip-Purs had a lull after Carey's goal, but all the energy came back when Smith stopped Sabanovic's penalty kick.

“I knew Parker was going to save that,” Carey said. “I know Parker is the best shot stopper I’ve ever met. I knew he was going to save that.”

While the Whip-Purs’ energy spiked after that play, Streamwood appeared to be deflated. The Sabres had several quality chances Saturday but were unable to put any of them away.

The fact their best player, Sabanovic, was turned away was hard to overcome.

“AJ is a big-time player, and those are plays big-time players put in,” Streamwood coach Matt Polovin said. “In practice, it’s automatic. In any of the games this season where he’s taken them, it’s automatic.”

Hampshire’s Jackson Carey (7) looks to pass against Streamwood during the Class 3A Hampshire Regional championship game on Saturday, Oct. 26, 2024.

Polovin pointed out that’s how the entire game felt for the Sabres.

“I said at halftime, you can’t have the multiple chances we’ve had all game and not score,” Polovin said. “All it takes is one bad mistake. They get a goal and we lose. Sure enough, that’s what happened.”

Martinez, meanwhile, is happy for the opportunity to guide his team for another week.

“The boys have been ready for this all season,” Martinez said. “We’ve been building and building, and we’re connecting at the right time.”

Carey also confirmed that his team’s confidence is at an all-time high going into Wednesday.

“We had the heart,” Carey said. “We had the fans. Everybody was supporting us.

“We’ve got Huntley next. We’re winning that.”

No. 6 Burlington Central (7-2) at No. 11 Grant (6-3)

Quick look: The Rockets have enjoyed a turnaround season, securing their first postseason appearance since 2014 behind QB Jackson Alcorn, WR Caden West, RB Zane Pollack, and a hard-hitting defense that has held 4 opponents to 7 points or less. The Bulldogs' schedule includes a 58-57 loss to Grayslake North and a 56-54 double-overtime win over Antioch.

No. 12 Fenton (6-3) at No. 5 Wauconda (7-2)

Quick look: A year ago, the Bison suffered through an 0-9 campaign. This season, senior QB Nathan Stewart and teammates Jack Tinajero, Omar Diaz, Eddie Lira and company have guided Fenton to their first postseason berth since 2013. Wauconda has reached the second round of the playoffs the past 2 seasons.

No. 13 Kaneland (5-4) at No. 4 Belvidere North (8-1)

Quick look: Despite losing 4 of their last 5, the Knights showed they can hang with some of the state's best, losing a 14-10 decision to 1A powerhouse Belleville Althoff Saturday. Two-way standout Carter Grabowski might be the Knights' top player. Led by RB Zavian McElroy, Belvidere North captured the NIC-10 title for the 2nd time in school history.

No. 14 Glenbard South (6-3) at No. 3 Kankakee (8-1)

Quick look: The Raiders are making their 13th consecutive postseason appearance and have topped the 40-point mark in more than half (5) of their games. Sophomore QB Tommy Bauman and junior WR/CB/KR Jonny Baldauf lead Glenbard's attack against a Kankakee defense that already owns 4 shutouts.

Class 5A

No. 13 Sterling (5-4) at No. 4 St. Francis (7-2)

Quick look: The Spartans enter on a high note thanks to their 39-36 win over defending state champion Nazareth this past weekend. Junior QB Brady Palmer directs a potent attack that includes WRs Zach Washington, Ian Willis, and Dario Milivojevic.

No. 10 Perspectives Co-op (5-4) at No. 7 Benet Academy (6-3)

Quick look: QB Ryan Kubacki leads the Redwings into postseason play for the first time since 2019. Martin Radgowski and Jack Clevenger highlight a turnover-ready defense.

No. 15 Marmion (5-4) at No. 2 Rochelle (8-1)

Quick look: First-year Cadets coach Adan Guerra has Marmion back in the playoffs for the first time since 2021. Marmion sealed its postseason berth with Saturday's 20-14 win over Leo. Senior Kamron Tolliver guides Benet's offense. Rochelle is making its 4th straight postseason appearance.

Class 4A

No. 13 Sandwich (5-4) at Wheaton Academy (8-1)

Quick look: Making their 4th straight playoff trip, the Warriors have high aspirations following last year's 31-30 semifinal loss to St. Laurence. QB Nathan Downey guides the offense, while the defense feasts on turnovers — four pick-6s versus Marian Central Catholic Friday night. Sandwich earned back-to-back playoff berths for first time since 2012-2013.

Class 3A

No. 9 Montini (7-2) at No. 8 North Lawndale (7-2)

Quick look: A year ago, the Broncos lost a 26-20 semifinal decision to eventual state champion Byron. Sophomore QB Israel Abrams and junior RB Santino Tenuta lead the Broncos, making their 34th playoff appearance. Tysean Perkins has scored 15 TDs for the Phoenix.

Class 1A

No. 16 Aurora Christian (5-4) at No. 1 LeRoy (9-0)

Quick look: Led by junior QB Asa Johnson and senior WR Jonan Miceli, the Eagles are making their 7th consecutive postseason appearance. LeRoy, the top-ranked 1A team in the state, has scored 34 or more points in all 9 games.
